Vote of Field Marshal Will De-

HERRIOT OFF TO PARIS

Expect Majority of Cabinet in Favor of Premier's Concli-atory Attitude

By Associated Press

London—Marshal Foch probably will cast the vote which will decide the fate of the London international conference for putting the Dawes reparation settlement in effect. In the opinion of many observers here of the proceedings of the conference.

He is the last authority on military matters in France and Herriot and his associates who leave Saturday afternoon for Paris, must have his approval of the agreement to vacate the Ruhr, it is declared, before definite action can be taken on a multitude of technical questions which will all turn about the military and political pivot.

General Nollet is understood to be standing out flatly for the continued presence of French troops in the Ruhr until the Germans have furnished complete and effective military control by the allies within Germany, and until such control shows that Germany has fully complied with the disarmament provision of the treaty of Versailles. It is regarded as certain that the majority of the cabinet will favor H. Herriot's conciliatory attitude, although the effect on the premier's political fortunes is considered by most observers as not unlikely to prove unfavorable and possibly disastrous.

London—A conference on the question of interrelated debts will be held in the near future, it has been definitely decided. Premier Herriot of France announced Saturday just before he left for Paris for a conference with his cabinet on the work of the international conference. The French delegates had been working persistently to bring about such an interrelated debt discussion since the present conference opened. It is understood that it has not yet been decided whether the new conference will be held in Paris or London.

CHINA SEEKS AID FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

By Associated Press

Pekin—The floods which have been general throughout China are causing much suffering, according to reports received by the central government. The flood committee of Kwangsi, one of the southern provinces, has petitioned the government for funds stating that there has been an unprecedented inundation as the result of four rivers overflowing. The population, impoverished by civil war, is unable to withstand the calamity, according to the committee. The governor of Sinking province in the west reports that a number of villages have been flooded and asks for tax exemption for the stricken area.

RETURN YOUTH WANTED FOR SHOOTING OFFICER

Milwaukee—Edward Block, accused of being the man who shot Patrolman Henry Zabel Tuesday night, was returned Friday night to the West side police station from Indianapolis.

Miss Lillian Vincent, who was found with Block in Indianapolis, was held at the central station as a material witness. Both waived extradition and were brought to Milwaukee by Detectives Eugene and William McKinney. It was expected that Block would be arraigned Saturday.

Block is said to have admitted he was in the car driven by H. B. Moore, also a prisoner, when Zabel was shot, but denied that he did the shooting.

Police records show that Block, also known as Irvin Davis, lived at 1837 Becker-st. and credit him with conviction for the attempted burglary of a saloon and theft of an overcoat.

Patrolman Zabel's condition is much improved and there is no longer doubt of his recovery.

BRAZILIAN FEDERALS SUFFER GREAT LOSSES

Buenos Ayres—The Santa Cordeiro, a federal column, is reported that the Brazilian federal forces pursuing the Sao Paulo rebels have suffered heavy losses and it is asserted that over a trainload of wounded have arrived at Sao Paulo City.

Trial Erases Smiles

The smile has gone from the faces of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr., slayers of Bobby Franks. Two weeks ago, when the fight to save them from gallows started, the two youths took the proceedings lightly, they laughed and joshed with each other. Today it is different—the picture at the right shows the serious strained look that envelops the boys' faces. Perhaps they are now experiencing the "thrill" they sought in murder.

Heavy Wind, Rain, Electrical

Damage in Dunn-co Friday Night.

Oshkosh—A warning has been issued to the residents of Oshkosh and Winnebago-co to take extraordinary precautions against a species of army worm that has appeared here. Attention to the situation was called when huge numbers of the worms were observed on willow trees in Riverside Park at the foot of Main-st., where they stripped the trees of foliage. County Agent Sell prescribed arsenate of lead, which was sprayed on the trees. Efforts are to be made to check the worms before serious damage to crops result.

ICEBOUND SHIP MUST AWAIT WARM WEATHER

On Board Supply Ship Gertrud Rask, Near Angmagssalik, Greenland—Since she was caught in the ice field near Angmagssalik early this week, the Danish government steamer, Gertrud Rask, supply ship for the east Greenland station of the American world flight party, has drifted with the ice 65 miles south of Angmagssalik. It will be impossible for her to escape until the ice spreads.

When the steamer succeeds in freeing herself she will make another effort to reach Angmagssalik from the open sea to the north of that port.

It was the inability of the Gertrud Rask to reach Angmagssalik and establish a landing place there for the American army fliers that has complicated the situation for the airman in this late stage of their world flight.

Efforts now are being made by the combined army and navy forces on the Iceland station, where the airman are stalled for the present at Reykjavik, to find a suitable landing place for them on the Greenland coast, probably further south than Angmagssalik, so they may refuel there for the jump to the west coast and thence to Labrador on the American mainland.

DAVIS' SPEECH EFFECT CAUSES BRYAN ANXIETY

Washington—William Jennings Bryan, with a half-felt and half-straw hat, and a palm leaf fan, breezed into Washington Friday and saw friends connected with the Democratic national committee. Asked about the outlook, Mr. Bryan said: "You can not tell yet. Much depends on what Mr. Davis says in his speech of acceptance and the way he says it. I know it will be progressive, but I am anxious to see how the people take it."

"I see a great deal about Republicans going to Mr. La Follette but very little about Democrats moving in that direction. I am not surprised that Republicans should go that way."

STIPULATION ANNULS TOBACCONIST CHARTER

Milwaukee—As a result of a stipulation entered today, the charter of the Association of Wholesale Tobacconists of Wisconsin is annulled, a payment of $10,000 made a suit entered in 1922 under the state anti-trust laws by former Attorney General W. J. Morgan is dismissed, it was announced here Saturday.

The suit was started by Mr. Morgan in connection with a series of others against various organizations and companies, claimed to be operating in restraint of trade and in violation of the laws of the state. In the tobaccoists' suit the association and seventeen affiliated companies were named as defendants.

Payment of the $10,000 is made by P. Iorihara Co., but it is understood this was tendered in behalf of all companies, members of the association involved.

The stipulation disposing of the action was taken before Judge Walter Schurz here, the state being represented by special Assistant Attorney General Dan Grady, Portage, and County Attorney Eugene Wengert, Milwaukee, and the companies by numerous attorneys.

COOLIDGE WILL TAKE WELL-EARNED VACATION

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge will leave the capital for a brief vacation soon after his formal acceptance of the Republican presidential nomination here Thursday night, visiting his father at Plymouth, Vt., for ten or twelve days with Mrs. Coolidge and their son John. In view of his absence, the party managers are expected to avoid the moves of opposing candidates before deciding definitely on their program for the national campaign.

Decision to leave Washington for a while was reached late Friday by Mr. Coolidge after a conference with Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee. Satisfied with enthusiastic reports brought to him by Mr. Butler, the president yielded to the urging of friends to take a few days away from the duties which have kept him almost constantly at his desk since he entered office a year ago.

LAFOLLETTE DELAYS CAMPAIGN OPENING

Washington, D. C.—Senator LaFollette, Independent candidate for president, is expected to determine how extensively he will campaign after he has had opportunity to consult with his running mate, Senator Wheeler of Montana. Mr. Wheeler, who with his family is vacationing on Cape Cod, probably will return to Washington next week. At conferences which will begin immediately it is likely that the speech-making itineraries of both candidates on the Independent ticket will be determined rather definitely. Thus far nothing has been decided upon, not even when and where either will open his campaign.

Tentative plans, however, call for Senator Wheeler to take the lead with a speech late this month or early in September in New England, probably at Boston, and then to swing through eastern industrial centers and later invade the west.

Fourth Alienist for Defense Concludes Testimony on Sixteenth Day

BARES EARLY TENDENCIES

Mother's Death Led "Babe" to Renounce Religious Beliefs,
Medic Says

By Associated Press
Chicago—Disordered endocrine glands, were held responsible for the mental and physical development of Nathan F. Leopold Jr., which permitted him to fall in with Richard Loeb's childish phantasy to commit the perfect crime resulting in the kidnapping and slaying of Robert Franks, Dr. H. S. Hulbert, Chicago psychiatrist, testified Saturday in the hearing to fix their punishment.

"Leopold's thyroid gland has been diseased by the disorder has subordinated and his pineal and pituitary glands have not functioned as 'they should,' the doctor, fourth of the defense experts to appear in the 16 days of session, testified.

In summing up he concluded that the boys, he having described Loeb's disorders Friday, came together as necessary complements one of the other and that Leopold, unable to resist Loeb's leadership, their association led to the murder of Bobby Franks.

HULBERT RESUMES STORY

The hearing got under way 15 minutes late, and Dr. Hulbert picked up his testimony where he left off Friday with his description of Leopold's "wing-salve" phantasy. Dr. Hulbert said the phantasy was continued until the age of 18, the phantasy setting the pattern of his life, Leopold's ambition coming to be the "perfect slave of the perfect king." Leopold found such a person in Loeb, said the witness, and wanted to be Loeb's "perfect slave" in any manner, even through kidnapping and murder.

There were no criminalistic phantasies in Leopold's life, continued the doctor.

The testimony veered to Leopold's religious life, the witness saying that because of his advanced intellectual life, Leopold was ready for confirmation, well before he was of age to be, and when he reached the age he did not care to be confirmed.

"He finally found fault with God because of God's mistakes, making a great mistake when he took his mother."

STOLE AT AGE OF NINE

Asked as to Leopold's criminalistic tendencies by Walter Bachrach of defense counsel, Dr. Hulbert said Leopold stole some stamps at the age of nine, stole his brother's necklace and traded it for cigar bands, justifying the thefts by the statement:

"Why, that was all right; I wanted them."

The bridge cheating plan Leopold evolved with Loeb was not a success, said the doctor, who added:

"They were not keen enough to make it a success and lost money by it." Their petty thefts, the robbing of a University of Michigan fraternity house, and other misdemeanors previously reeled by other alienists, were gone over by Dr. Hulbert.

"Indirectly he discussed the Franks murder," said the doctor in reply to a question by Bachrach. "He said he could not have done it."

"When I asked him in jail what his future plans were, he said he did not know what his exact plans were, but he preferred to settle down and get married. There was no chagrin or remorse over the murder, Leopold said that he felt no fear of being hanged."

During a 20 minute recess, the state would call a dozen lay witnesses first and then offer the testimony of four mental experts in rebuttal.

It was understood the defense intended to complete its plea for mitigation of punishment Monday, and the state indicated it would be through by Thursday with arguments by counsel to require an unknown length of time, indicating that the hearing might be concluded by the end of next week.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO GET $150,000

State Organization Enters Congressional Race First Time in Years

By Associated Press

Milwaukee—Wisconsin Democrats expect to raise a fund of $150,000 for the state party political campaign according to the finance committee headed by John Cudahy, chairman, Milwaukee.

At a meeting of party leaders here Friday, it was decided to reconstitute with the Milwaukee-co committee for inactivity, for failure to place candidates. That problem has been solved to a queen's in the county field and for failure to cooperate with the state committee.

Plans for the pre-primary campaign were discussed. Each candidate for state office will spend ten days making speeches for the state ticket, according to these plans.

Democratic congressional candidates have been placed in the field for the first time in years, according to W. D. Carroll, secretary of the party. At meetings to be held in every county in the state plans will be discussed to write in names of congressional candidates where the party did not file names for such office, he said.

Speakers at the meeting included J. Allen Simpson, Racine, candidate for attorney general; John P. Hume, state chairman; Karl Mathie, Wausau candidate for lieutenant governor; E. C. Wicke, Horicon, candidate for congress in the Second district, and Frank Rowan, Milwaukee, George F. Wynnell, Waukesha, presided.

LABOR BODY PROMISES VIRGINIA MINERS AID

By Associated Press

Atlantic City, N. J.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor Saturday authorized Samuel Gompers, president, to demand of Governor Morgan of West Virginia, that the eviction of coal miners from company owned houses in that state cease at once. The council further pledged to the United Mine Workers of America an affiliation of the American Federation of Labor all aid in "protecting mine workers and their families in West Virginia."

The council's resolution was accompanied by a statement by William Green, secretary-treasurer of the U. M. W. of A., in which he declared that "the average citizen who enjoys the blessings and protection of free government instinctively rebels against this inhuman and un-American practice of eviction, whatever the general opinion in regard to the economy or industrial issues involved."

LOOK FOR RECORD BREAKING CROWDS AT BIG PAGEANT

Kaukauna's Historical Spectacle Closes Sunday Evening

Threatening weather again interfered with the plans of the people who had planned to attend the Kaukauna pageant Friday night but nearly 1,000 people were in the open air theatre in spite of the rain a few minutes before the performance started. The hillside drained so rapidly, however, that the audience was not inconvenienced or uncomfortable.

The pageant will be produced again tonight and Sunday night if weather conditions are good record breaking crowds are expected. Approximately 4,000 people have seen the pageant this year and it is believed eight or ten thousand more will crowd into the theatre Saturday and Sunday nights.

Pictures of the big cast were taken Friday night and more will be taken tonight. The photographs do not interfere in the least with the program.

The pageant begins promptly at 8 o'clock and there are no long waits between episodes. Scenery is changed while the announcer speaks between the episodes to carry along the action of the pageant.

There has been a constant improvement in the performance since the first night as the actors gain experience. One of the noticeable features is that absolute absence of stage fright on the part of the cast. This is due quite largely to the foot lights on the stage which absolutely obliterate the audience from the view of the actor.

Lights turned onto the audience between episodes "black out" the stage so that the audience cannot see the shifting of scenery. Every device of the indoor stage to affect realism is used in addition to the natural setting which is ideal for the pageant.

Pinching Motorists Keeps Tax Rate Down In Lomira

While almost every city and village in this state is bemoaning high tax rates and wondering where the next dollar is coming from, the tiny village of Lomira, a few miles south of Fond du Lac on Highway 15, is "getting pretty." Since the invention of the motorcycle cop and the concrete highway, the tax problem no longer exists in Lomira. Neither has the village the problem of what to do with the motorist.

In Lomira they pinch the motorist, especially if he is unfortunate enough not to live in Lomira. Pinching motorists who pass through, or by the village is one of the principal industries of the community. If you don't believe it ask any one of a half dozen Appleton men who have received the attention of the vigilant motor-cop in the last few weeks.

The cop is a decent fellow, though. He talks gentlemanly but firmly and is quite willing to have the motorist pay his fine of $14.19 to him to save the time and trouble of going back to see the judge. The cop gives a receipt for every arrest and at noon on Friday an Appleton man received receipt numbered 179, indicating that business has been rather good this year. On Aug. 8 an Appleton driver got receipt No. 167 for $14.19, proving that 12 luckless motorists swelled the village coffers in three days.

At the rate of $14.19 per receipt, motorists have paid a total of $1,702.21 for the privilege of passing the village.

Practically all the arrests are made on Highway 15, which just skirts the village. The arrests on Aug. 5 and 8 were for driving at the rate of 33 miles an hour. According to motorists, the cop keeps in hiding and most of the arrests are made after the cars have passed out of the village limits.

Tax-burdened folks might do well to consider moving to Lomira. The cost of living should be reduced considerably there if Highway 15 will hold out.

According to the decree, the defendant retains the possession of the property on Newberry st. while Miss Mignon was allowed her photographs, letters, magazines, personal clothing, a cane chest and a vanity case. The couple was married five years ago in Appleton. Rooney and Grogan represented the defendant.

SCHOOL BUILDER DENIES IGNORING APPLETON LABOR

Complaint to City Council
Based on Untruths, Contractor Says

Charges that preference is given to outside labor in the construction of the east end junior high school was denied Friday by W. J. Mills, superintendent of construction of Hoepfner-Bartlett company, Eau Claire, which is building the school.

The superintendent branded as unfounded the statements made in a communication received at the last meeting of the common council. The council was told that the contractors refuse jobs to home labor.

"That statement is not true," said Supt. Mills. "Almost every man on the job is a home town man. We took all the unskilled labor that we could get here. Even the bricklayers were not refused as long as they were capable of doing the work required. Of course, we brought our own foreman. We have employed as many as 90 men at a time, and we always gave preference to local help."

Work on the east end school is progressing as fast as can be expected under weather conditions such as have been experienced here this summer. Frequent rains often delay the work for hours and days at a time.

Practically all of the walls have been erected up to the second story, and pouring of concrete on the second floor has commenced. The contractor is anxious to complete the exterior work before frost sets in.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR PIPE GALLERY

The bid of the Wausau Irons works, builders of the Cherry-st bridge, being the only one received for the installation of a bridge gallery to support a water main, the Appleton board of public works Friday awarded the contract to this firm. The bid was $1,995. The gallery may also be used to support gas mains, electric and telephone cables. No overhead wiring will be permitted on the bridge. Corporations intending to use the gallery will be assessed a part of the expense of installation and maintenance.

The Lawest bridge also has been equipped with a similar gallery for water main support. By this method the water department can repair a break or leak easily, which is not the case when the main is located under water.

START WORK SOON ON MEMORIAL AT U. OF W.

Madison—With official sanction of the University of Wisconsin regents given to construct the Memorial Union building in units, the start of building operations now hinges on completion of the architects' plans and their acceptance by the building committee.

The plans, which are being drawn under the supervision of Arthur Peabody, state architect and Alexander Eschweiler, Milwaukee, will be submitted early this fall. An O. K. by the building committee would then probably mean laying of a cornerstone on Homecoming day, Nov. 15.

Possibility of early construction activity is so pronounced that plans are being made by student organizations at the direction of J. D. Phillips, university business manager, to vacate the present Union building in order that it may be razed and the site cleared for the first unit or west wing of the new structure. Such organizations are going into the old Clinic building, from which the medical staff has removed to the new State General hospital.

The first of the three units of the building to be constructed will include the dining room and other revenue-producing departments, which it is believed will contribute considerably to the $1,200,000 total building fund, $915,000 of which has now been pledged or subscribed.

OSHKOSH STATION PLEA DENIED BY RAIL BOARD

Oshkosh—Formal notice has been received by Oshkosh officials from the Wisconsin railroad commission denying that the city's petition that the three railroads entering the city be compelled to build and maintain a union station. The petition was made in 1916 and several hearings resulted, the last in January, 1921. The commission dismissed the petition on the general ground that no practical plan had been submitted. It was further ruled that the commission probably has no jurisdiction in view of the provisions of the federal transportation act of 1920 which is said to give the interstate commerce commission exclusive jurisdiction over such matters.

—this oil burner always works

A new type, quiet oil burner was perfected five years ago. Oil-O-Matic engineers built it so that it would not require mechanical attention.

Once your Oil-O-Matic is installed you never have to look at it again. It is automatic from that moment on. Women especially like this freedom from care. You can change from one grade of oil to another and not have to touch a screw. It burns any kind of fuel oil.

Many new safety features give you a new sense of security. Fully approved by the Underwriter's Laboratories.

In five years not one Oil-O-Matic has ever failed. It will save you money and labor to have this new-day oil burner in your home. You can see it now on display in our shop. Drop in and see it. Under our new deferred payment plan you can pay for it as you use it. Of course it is guaranteed, or money back.

THE UNITED STATES IN EUROPE

It is taken for granted in London and Washington that the allied conference with Germany is to end in a complete agreement. An understanding has been reached on the all-important matter in which the defaults are to be determined under the Dawes plan. Economic evacuation of the occupied territory is provided for as well as withdrawal of the railway control. So much progress has been made that it has been deemed advisable to advance the date for putting into effect the provisions of the Dawes plan from Oct. 10th to Oct. 5th. The representatives of Germany went into the conference in a conciliatory frame of mind, prepared to make as well as to ask concessions. The spirit of the joint meeting is decidedly of the get-together type. It is the first time this feeling has been displayed by the allies and Germany, and by the allies among themselves, since the conclusion of the war.

Only a few minor details remain to be worked out to complete the actual agreement. There seems to be no doubt that this will be done. It has taken five years of controversy, military pressure, economic chaos and strained relations, to bring about this conclusion. In that time we have the collapse of German finance, civil war in Germany, a severe monetary relapse in France, partial estrangement of France and England, tremendous unemployment in England and suffering and want among the people of all these nations. This state of affairs stood to continue indefinitely, inviting consequences that no one dared to even speculate upon.

The peaceful understanding which has averted this catastrophe and which promises to bring Europe back to stability and prosperity as soon as industry can accomplish results, is the contribution of the United States to an apparently insoluble problem. It is an achievement of the first order, and a service America was capable of rendering ever since the treaty of Versailles. Events have disclosed that this was the one and only country which, through its strong financial position, its high moral conceptions and its sense of justice, could intervene to save Europe from itself. There is no reason why this power and influence could not have been utilized. It was not utilized because the administration at Washington for nearly four years clung to a false policy of isolation. The force of events has compelled the government, much to the distress of our bitter-enders and anti-British progressives, to accept its responsibilities and contribute its services to stricken Europe. It is a great exhibition of the failure of a foreign policy that was acclaimed in 1920 to be the final and unalterable position of the United States.

ADVENTURES IN DREAMLAND

The Browns, delightful creatures of fairyland, live on though Palmer Cox, who created them, died recently at his home in Quebec. Palmer Cox will be forgotten, but his Browns will not. They may be eclipsed at times by new fairies, yet their popularity will revive and continue for generations. No man is any greater than his works. Few are as great.

The fiction people of fairyland are well nigh imperishable. Quite naturally. They represent life where all is a round of pleasure, with few cares. Their atmosphere is one of good fortune and happiness. These are the things people want—the things that are rare in our humdrum mechanical civilization and which, when they do come to us, are brief and fleeting like the aroma of forests to the tired traveler. We are not quite sure what things are like in the Hereafter. But surely it will be a place abounding in delightful creatures like Old Mother Goose, Santa Claus, the Browns, Tom Sawyer, (for he was almost a fairy), the Wonderful Wizard of Oz, Jack Daw, Hansel and Gretel, Jack the Giant Killer, Water Babies and all the other mystic people who thrill the imagination of all children under 90.

It is good that, in our matter-of-fact world of alarm clocks, sordid scandals, labor strife, politics, tight shoes, thin wallets and rules and regulations, we have the fairyland of fiction with its romantic adventures. Life would be dull and drab without the mystic creatures, shadowy phantoms, the things that dreams are made of. That harsh and merciless taskmaster, the efficiency expert, is forever ranting that we are not practical enough. We are too practical, and that is why life at times becomes monotonous. We rise from the dust, have a brief and bewildering kaleidoscopic experience called life—then vanish into the dreamland from which we came. In sleep with its dreams and in fairy tales we find life as we yearn for it. At times we envy the inventor of such devices of human enslavement as the steam engine, the wheel, the dynamo and the factory. But possibly greater are the achievements of the whimsical, kindly brains that created Santa Claus, Old Mother Goose, the Browns, Alice in Wonderland and the other lovable folk of the World of Make Believe.

GAIN FROM THE WORLD WAR

On the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the World war the American Legion Weekly asks a number of prominent publicists of different lands. "What did the world gain by the World war?" Summed up, the answers are "we don't know." The composite answer, "we don't know," is the correct answer. It will be several years, perhaps many, before the permanent results of the World war will be evident.

Great movements affecting society work out their benefits slowly. Their cycles are long. The conditions which brought on the war were under development for centuries. The war itself broke suddenly. It had been predicted for some ten years before it happened. The war should be looked upon as a reaction against militarism and autocracy. Diplomacy taught peoples to mistrust and hate one another. The government and its personification were magnified to the people as the mainstay of social order and stability.

Militarism and caste-bureaucracy attempted to enslave the world. They misjudged their power and failed to perceive the growing spirit of liberty. Democracy was forced to take up arms to defend itself. What are the results? Italy has a dictatorship. Spain has a dictatorship. Germany has been swayed by profiteers. Russia is ruled by a military bureaucracy. France has been floundering in uncertainty and suspicion since the war's close.

There is apparent one direct good effect of the World war. This is expansion of the democratic sentiment. The war strengthened confidence in representative government. The drift in that direction is noticeable in all parts of the world.

The war was not fought in vain. There is more liberty as a result of it. All peoples feel more hopeful. The prospects of world peace are better than ever before. Evidences to the contrary are superficial. They are the exception which prove the rule.

CHAIR ARMS

CONSIDER the arms of a big comfy chair—its sits in most everyone's home. There is a reason why chair arms are built as they are to be good for a person.

Did you come home from work and he sits in the chair. He leisurely flops himself in it. And soon his arms find his legs hanging there. And he is snoring away in a minute.

Just yesterday, kneeling, all day mother, took the old chair that sits here, it comes. And then on the arms, she will rest aged thumbs and feet. And she will drift into dreams.

A sweetheart will gracefully lie in the chair, her reason is shortly made clear. The arms find a lover is soon sitting there as he whistles sweet things in her ear.

A little tot's naughty, some cross, word, were said, and after mother's reprimand's spent, she sits on the chair arm and bury's her head and weeps to her own heart's content.

A plain comfy armchair that's ancient and true, what long lists of thoughts it will bring. Consider this armchair; give credit that's due to a very considerate thing.

WHY ALL THIS IODIN?

The prevalence of thyroid enlargement (goiter) varies greatly in certain localities in Michigan only a few miles apart. Thus 25 per cent of persons examined in Mt. Clemens had thyroid enlargements, while at Romeo, 12 miles distant from Mt. Clemens, 75 percent of persons examined had thyroid enlargements. How come? Well, maybe it is a difference in the drinking water. The drinking water in Mt. Clemens was found to contain 25 parts of iodine per billion, whereas the drinking water in Romeo was found to contain not even a trace of iodine. To the health authorities would add a little iodine to the drinking water in Mt. Clemens the prevalence of goitre there would probably drop to a lower percentage, but in order to accomplish that at Romeo they would have to add a greater amount of iodine to the drinking water. Or the people of both communities might obtain an adequate iodine ration by using for table salt and in cooking the iodized salt which the Michigan state board of health recommends—such salt is made by a Michigan salt firm and may be purchased from grocers throughout the goitre territory. It looks, tastes and costs the same as ordinary free running salt, it contains 0.02 per cent of sodium iodide. That means less than a grain and a half of sodium iodide in each pound of salt. Obviously no one could consume enough salt to get more iodine than is good for one as food. Many individuals require more iodine than they can get from such salt. But persons using such iodized table salt ordinarily should not take other forms of iodine unless by the direction of a physician.

The greatest number of cases of goitre among boys were found at about the age of 10 years; in fact the greatest number of cases were found at about the age of 12 years.

Children with simple goitre were found to have lower school standings than normal children. That might be ascribed to the slower general metabolism of the goitrous.

It has been found in some surveys in Michigan that goitre is more prevalent in rural districts than in immediately adjacent urban districts, and this has been ascribed to the more general use of sea foods in the city. Nearly any kind of shell fish or fresh fish from the sea is a rich source of iodine. Canned, smoked or dried sea fish or shell fish is less likely to contain iodine.

Whether goitre and other pathological effects of a shortage of iodine are on the increase or whether they only seem to be more common now that surveys are being made, are questions to both of which I should answer yes. I have a notion that the soil and water and food of iodine sections where goitre has prevailed to a striking extent are growing constantly poorer in iodine, which is dissolved out of the soil and carried down to the sea and apparently cannot get back to the soil again. At the same time we are quite appreciative how very common some of these minor maladies are until we begin to tabulate cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Cocoa

What effect has cocoa on a person who drinks three cups per day? (Mrs. P. G.)

Answer.—It is a wholesome beverage, and in that quantity it would have only a good effect, I think. Young children should not take cocoa, but milk, because cocoa is a stimulant to the kidneys and therefore undesirable for children, and if cocoa is taken at bedtime it gives a child a false sense of satisfaction which makes the child take less food than he needs.

Cocoa itself, without the milk or cream and sugar added, is an inferior food and remains too long in the stomach.

FAMOUS SAYINGS OF FAMOUS PEOPLE

Judge Spencer: Hate to take your money, but got to do it.

We see that a Buchanan farmer is thinking of suing the aviator for scaring his horses. Who still remembers when irate farmers used to curse motorists for the same thing?

LaFollette has bought himself a straw hat with a felt brim and goes about hoping that his campaign will be felt also.

Dear Rollo: When you drive through Dodge-co near Lomira, drive very slowly so you won't wake up the town. We rambled through there this week at the terrific speed of 35 miles an hour thus spilling the motor cops' nap. It took $10 to put him back to sleep.

Since lumber has gotten to be so high and platforms so weak, county political candidates don't bother to adopt platforms any more.

We are going to ask our book reviewer to quit reading doctor books and devote herself to fiction. Think of all the good fiction that's being wasted in this political campaign!

Man Of Courage

Attains Result

(George Harrison Phelps, in Co.)

There are no blue ribbons for the cowards.

One morning, a long time ago, when Andrew Jackson was a young judge in Tennessee, a notorious bully started a disturbance in the court room. Jackson ordered the marshal to arrest him and place him in confinement. The task, however, proved to be a difficult one, as the bully backed into a corner and threatened to shoot the first man that moved.

The marshal hesitated and lost his nerve. The bully was master of the scene. "Call a posse," said the judge, "and rush him. He's afraid to shoot."

Again the bully raised his gun and every man stood still. A smile of derision spread over Jackson's face. "Court is adjourned for three minutes," he thundered. "Marshal, call on me."

Without a weapon Jackson left the bench and marched straight toward the barrel of the gun. The court room held its breath as the bully crouched a little and raised the hammer of his pistol—but Jackson never faltered. The bully saw only courage and determination in the judge's face. He knew he had met his master.

He dropped his gun and wilted. Courage commands respect. It won for us in our schoolboy games and it wins in the game of life. When business comes hardest and the prospect list gets low—put on your boots and wade through the drifts. You'll be surprised what grows underneath the snow.

Right now make up your mind. Courage will win.

ARCHITECTURE INSTRUCTOR

Miss Alberta Raffi of Chicago has been picked as instructor in the department of architecture, school of engineering, at the University of Illinois. She will take up her duties in September. At present Miss Raffi is serving as a draftsman for a Chicago company. She was awarded the medal of the American Institute of Architects for general excellence in her work as a student at Illinois.

Crater of the Moon, which has just been set aside by a proclamation issued by President Coolidge is a region of volcanic formation situated twelve miles southwest of Arco, on the Idaho Central Highway, which connects Boise and all points west with Yellowstone National Park. This new monument has an area of approximately thirty-nine square miles and was called Crater of the Moon from the resemblance of its topography to the surface of the moon as seen through a telescope. The lava lava is as fresh appearing as though poured out yesterday. The lava caves and tunnels occurring in the flows are perhaps the most interesting features. In some of the tunnels snow and ice are found which do not melt entirely the year round. The whole landscape has a weirdness which at certain seasons of the year takes on an exquisitely beautiful effect produced by the myriad clumps of delicately tinted wild flowers blooming in profusion on the black, cinder hillsides.

D. E. A. When a record vote is taken on a measure, the names and votes of the members are shown in the Record; however, when the vote is not recorded this indicates that a viva voce (verbal) vote was taken.

DANCE HALL FIGHT REVEALS OWNER DID NOT HAVE LICENSE

August Pautz Fined $50 for Violating County Ordinance

A free for all fight Thursday evening in a public dance hall over the soft drink parlor of August Pautz, Five Corners, resulted in the arrest of Pautz on a charge of operating a dance hall without a license.

The fighters cleared out before the arrival of the authorities, but Frank Schroeder, town chairman of Center, was so incensed over the affair that he obtained a warrant for the proprietor's arrest. Pautz was fined $50 and costs when arraigned in Judge Spencer's court Friday afternoon, but the judge reduced the fine to $40.

Pautz maintained that the dances were actually private since no admission was charged, but he paid the fine. The town chairman declared that had the proprietor obtained a license and permit, a dance inspector would have been provided to maintain order. Young people of the community often flock to this hall and employ their own musicians, but in the judgment of the court the hall is a public dance hall, and Pautz will have to obtain a license before any more dances can be held.

The names of the parties to the drunken brawl were not known to the authorities, but it is understood that blood flowed quite freely in the fight and that some of the participants are on the list of disabled.

submitted to an operation for removal of tonsils Saturday morning at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Heckert are spending a few days at Three Lakes. The Misses Rosella Fischer and Violet Sommers will leave Monday for Chicago where they will be entertained at a house party.

JEWISH VETS NOW CAN BE KLANSMEN

Baltimore—"It is now possible for a Jew who served in the World war to be recognized as a real 100 per cent American," declared E. Milton Altfield, assistant state's attorney, Friday.

Mr. Altfield had what he called, "Indisputable proof" in a letter from the grand klesale of the Ku Klux Klan in Atlanta inviting him to become a member of the order.

"No, they didn't make a mistake," Mr. Altfield explained. "We are Americans now. Read this, it makes us real Americans."

"This was a mass of klan literature announcing that a 'modified policy' made it possible for a Jew who served in the World war to become a member of the klan. The chief platform of the 'American organization' at present, according to the literature, is a fight against the 'reign of Catholicism in America.'"

"Am I going to join?" Mr. Altfield repeated the question.

"No," he answered. "I do not expect to order a new nightgown. It is hot enough these days without extra sheets, anyway. It is an invitation to self-respecting Jew could accept."

Directors of the chamber of commerce, at their meeting Friday noon, discussed the application of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., to the Wisconsin railroad commission for an increase in service rates in Appleton, but no action was taken in the matter. 23 MINISTERS OF M. E. CHURCH AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Special Work for Ministers Offered at Lawrence College

Twenty-three ministers of the Wisconsin and West Wisconsin conferences are in Appleton attending the summer school of theology directed by the commission of the courses of study of the Methodist Episcopal church. The purpose of the summer school, according to the Rev. E. C. Dixon of La Crosse, dean, is to assist the ministers who are undertaking the course of study necessary to become members of the conferences. Prior to this it was customary for the candidates to study the course unassisted and to take an examination at the yearly conference. With the summer school, the Rev. Mr. Dixon explained, they have an opportunity to work under excellent leadership and take their examinations at the end of the school instead of at the yearly conference.

Before the ministers can enter the course of study they must complete a preparatory course and if this is successfully passed they enroll for four years of work. Each year they are examined upon the completion of the course. The studying is done in private with the exception of the time spent in summer school.

Prof. Leslie, president of Lawrence college, lectured this week and the public was invited to attend. Thursday Dr. Plantz talked on "War or Peace" and Friday his topic was "The Bible as Literature." All lectures are at 2:30 in the recreation room of Crosby hall.

Special sermons are preached at 7:30 in the evening by undergraduates.

The daily program is as follows: 7:00, breakfast; 7:30, history and biography; practical theology; 8:30, religious education, comparative religions; homiletics; 9:30, chapel; 10:30, Old Testament, systematic theology, New Testament; 11:30, philosophy, sociology; 12:30, dinner; 2:30, special lectures and discussions; 6:00, supper; 7:30 to 9:00, supervised study. The schedule of studies is divided into three sections: (1) history, Old Testament, (2) practical theology, systematic theology, sociology, (3) religious education, New Testament, homiletics, comparative religions.

Besides Dean Dixon the faculty consists of: Secretary, Allen Adams, Whitewater; homiletics, R. A. Barnes, Stevens Point; philosophy, A. Hattestad, Marquette; sociology, E. W. Blakeman, Madison; new testament, J. W. Harris, Portage; religious education, John T. Collier, Oshkosh; comparative religions, W. W. Moore, Baraboo; practical theology, C. E. Weed, Sparta; history, G. H. Willett, Tomah; old testament, Harry S. Wise, Kenosha.

West Wisconsin conference students enrolled are the Revs. John Wilcox, Briggsville; Thomas Parry-Jones, Melrose; Edward Doherty, Kilbourn; John Birk Johnson, Frederic; S. J. Lambright, Lewis; Thomas H. Watters, Brodhead; A. F. Acker, Colfax; Randolph M. Evers, Elkworth; Thomas S. Kell, Malden Rock; F. M. Elsh, Jr., Theodore; F. Matthews, C. Paul Millar, Cameron.

Wisconsin conference students enrolled are the Revs. E. C. Hise, Delavan; Anton Stury, Hebron; Charles E. Olson, Niagara; G. E. Check, Minocqua; S. B. Lewis, Weyauwega; Ernst Leuenberger, Plover; F. D. Wright, Peshigo; Irving A. Mielenz, Tomahawk; Allen O. Wade, Shawano; G. C. Sanderson, Ofordville; T. Parker Hilborne, Elkhorn.

Miss Nina Carolyn Wolcott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wolcott, of Madison, who formerly was Appleton residents, left for Milwaukee Thursday to resume her duties as student nurse in St. Joseph hospital training school. She will complete her course in December and will then return to Madison to practice nursing.

"Congress Of Wonders" Will Be Feature Of Farmer Picnic

The "Congress of Wonders" containing strange freaks of the animal and plant kingdoms, many of the mysteries of modern science, some unexplained humbugs and other phenomena of nature will be one feature of the Farm Union Festival at Appleton on Aug. 13. The entertainment committee has been working for a month on the program so that it will be new and novel. It has been announced that anyone having something strange or unusual will confer a favor by calling it to the attention of the committee, which consists of W. G. Jamieson, H. H. Jade, Dr. R. C. Finkle, Alvin Tirah, Gordon McDonald and R. A. Amundson.

The "Congress of Wonders" will be in the afternoon and will be closed by a canvas. Among the wonders will be "Oza" and "Zozz," shown in the picture above. It is one, still it is two; "Oza" eats while "Zozz" sleeps and "Zozz" eats while "Oza" sleeps, so between the two this calf eats and sleeps at the same time. He eats his supper in just half the time it takes for a calf to eat normally, although he eats no more than a normal calf would.

Another strange creature is "Oscar," the neckless gander. "Oscar" is ten-months-old, weighs 12 pounds and has never seen his tall feathers. It is believed that "Oscar" was hatched in a nest of rats under the granary, where the old rat had carried the goose egg before it was hatched. When "Oscar" came out of the shell the floor was so close to the ground that it was impossible to stretch his neck, with the result that he grew up neckless. In every other respect "Oscar" is a normal and healthy gander. "Ignatz" and "Algernon," the Siamese twins, will be found within the canvas that encloses the wonders. A cow with five calves will be another curiosity.

Then there is the cantaloupe tree, the strangest mother in the world and a number of other mental and physical monstrosities.

The Seymour band will furnish music all afternoon for the side shows, featuring a new version of "The Animal Fair" that has been composed to suit the different freaks in the show.

Postoffice Department Warns
Against Illegal
Inclosures

Instructions have been issued to all postmasters by the Postal department, calling their attention to the placing of illegal inclosures in sealed parcels mailed at the fourth class rate of postage. This practice subjects the addressee to much annoyance and inconvenience, inasmuch as they are always called upon to pay the deficient postage. Postmaster John E. Farrell points out:

ing of photographic films, unauthorized additions to invoices, etc.

Legal inclosures are invoices, bearing the name and address of the sender and of the addressee, a count of the articles inclosed, together with descriptions, price, style, quality, etc. of the articles inclosed. Inclosures such as "Merry Christmas," "With Greetings," or "Do Not Open Until Christmas," may be written on fourth class mail or inclosed therewith, the bulletin issued by the department says.

When it is desired to send with fourth class mail a communication, instructions of other matter not constituting a permissible addition or inclosure under the law, this may be done by placing the matter in an envelope prepaid at the first class rate and attaching it to the parcel prepaid at the fourth class rate.

When in doubt as to the proper procedure when mailing matter of this nature, patrons of the postoffice are cautioned to inquire at the stamp window for the necessary information.

Paige Gives All This for $1895!

WHAT do you look for in the car you buy? Riding comfort, fine performance, smart appearance, long life! Now then—let's figure out just how Paige meets these demands. And let's see what others—costing more—have to offer.

First—comfort. Paige has 131-in. wheelbase. Few cars are longer and they cost far more—yes!—$200 to $1000 more for each extra inch! Why pay it?

Paige's rear springs are more than 5 feet long—4 snubbers. Greater spring suspension is not to be had. Ride over bumps with the Paige in unjolted comfort!

Now—let's talk about power. You want a car that will take hills in high where others stall or shift. You want to pull through hard going without dropping into second. Throttle down to a 2 mile an hour crawl in high. You want great speed for emergencies. The big six cylinder 70 h.p. Paige motor lets you do all this—smoothly, silently. More cylinders would only complicate it. Paige's ample power means no overtaxing—hence long life.

What power do others offer? Many cars costing $400 to $1100 more than Paige have far less power! Their piston displacements are 260 cu. in. to 314 cu. in. Compare these with Paige's 331 cu. in.

Weight indicates sturdiness. Several cars costing $2175—$2300—$2475—even $2685 show less weight than Paige's 3850 lbs. A stancher car at hundreds of dollars saving!

Think over these facts! Come in and let us show you the results in Paige's performance and comfort. (339-4)

LARGEST SUBMARINE IN NAVY IS LAUNCHED BY U.S.

The "V-1," largest of Uncle Sam's undersea craft, shown right after its launching at Portsmouth (N. H.) Navy Yard. Its length is 341 feet, 6 inches; breadth 28 feet; tonnage, 2,164; speed 21 knots.

A locomotive and four cars of a Southern Pacific freight train were overturned when the train crashed into an automobile at Lacassine Crossing in southwestern Louisiana. One person was killed instantly and seven seriously injured, five probably fatally.

One of the few photographs for which the Queen of Ethiopia has posed, with her advisors and maids of honor surrounding her. She is the wife of Raz Tafari, the picturesque monarch of Abyssinia and Ethiopia, who now is touring in Europe and later will come to America.

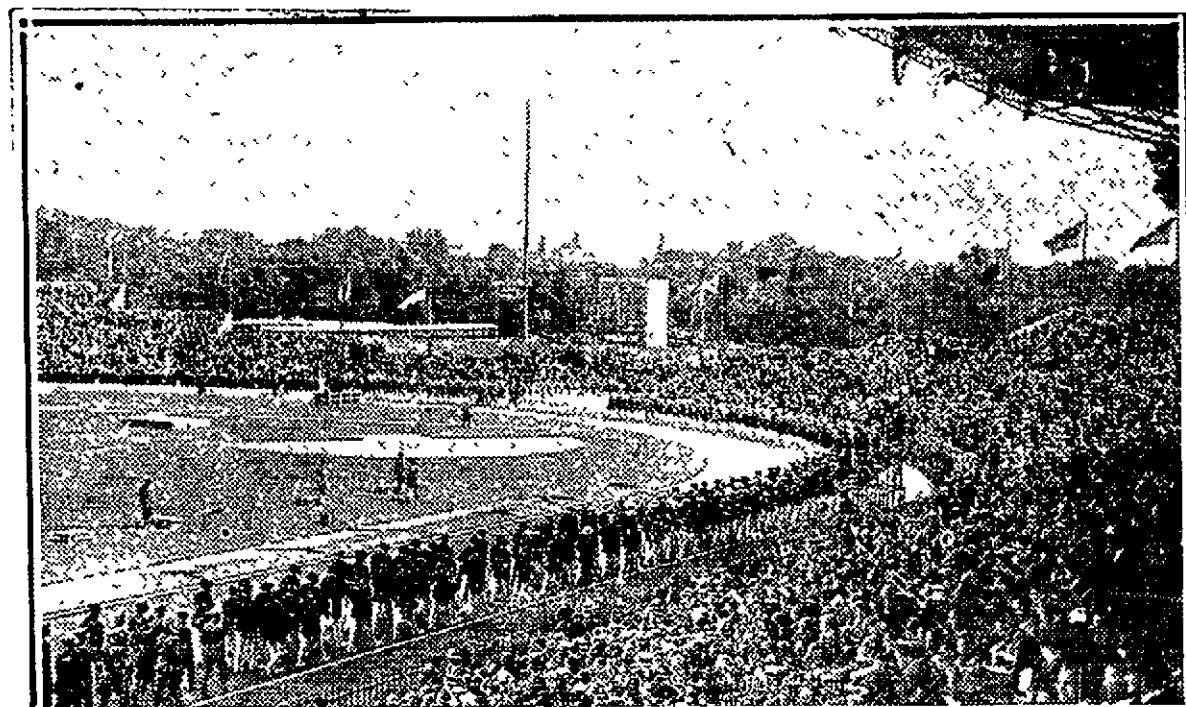

Lieutenant John Price and Frank W. Wead, naval aviators at Anacostia, District of Columbia, who broke non-stop seaplane duration record, by remaining in the air for 14 hours and 53 minutes, after flying 1050 miles. They were finally forced down by a heavy fog.

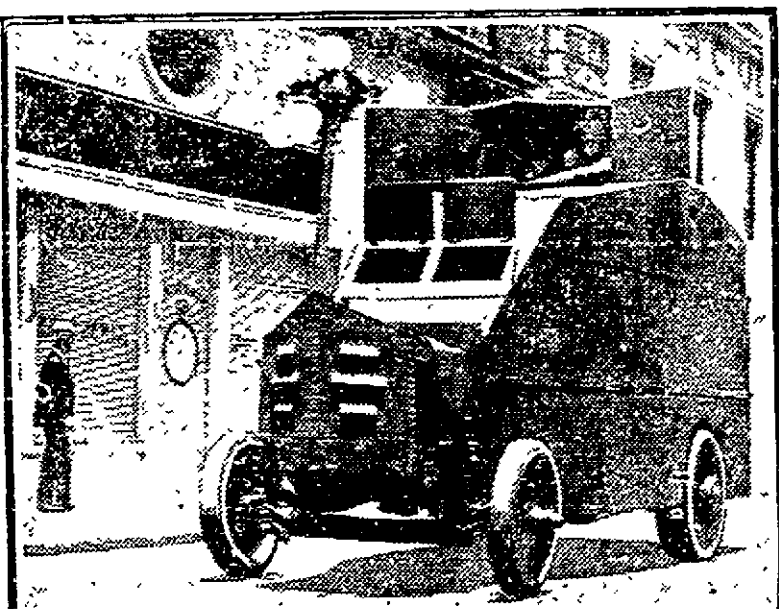

The ladies just went wild over this little critter. No wonder he carried off first honors at the Pekingese Show at Ranelagh, England. His name is "Hadley Orange Blossom." Pretty isn't it? "Hadley" is supposed to be the smallest Pekingese in the world. Anyway, he is small enough to fit comfortably in the championship cup.

Many a shipwreck is attributed to beautiful Lorelei of old. Sitting out there on the rocks, she so fascinated the poor sailors that they quit their posts and forgot the hidden rocks. Her modern counterpart, Florence Hart, Omaha high school girl, isn't wrecking any ships, though. True, she combs her long tresses and powders her nose out there on the springboard. But that's in the school pool. Unlike ancient Lorelei, she prefers to let the men live—so they can bring her bonbons!

Here is the opening of the Olympic games at Colombes Stadium, Paris. Athletes of all nations participated in the parade preceding the preliminary events. The United States, needless to say, easily landed first place, with Finland finishing second.

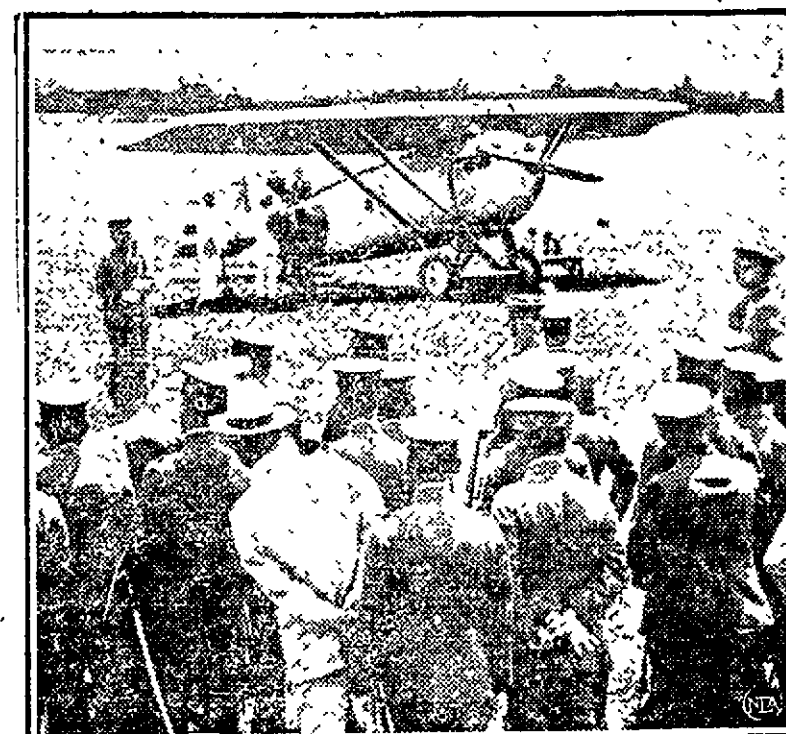

Tanks patrolled the streets of Mexico the day the voters went to the polls to elect a new president. But no serious disorders were reported. All in all, it was a quiet election for Mexico. So far, though, nobody knows who was elected. General Calles and General Flores, the rival candidates, both are claiming victory. The national Congress probably will have to decide which of them will wear the mantle Alvaro Obregon is discarding.

Much has been said about the Japanese keeping up to the minute in military matters, and here is a picture showing officers inspecting newly-arrived French planes of the latest model. They are the all-metal monoplane variety, built for scouting and fighting. Facing the group is Lieut.-Gen. Ozawa who is explaining the new planes.

Peggy Joyce appears here in something other than a "love role" for change. She is shown at the Atlantic City beach welcoming the giant ball that was pushed across the nation in the interest of Citizens Military Training Camps.

No man ever has reached the summit of Mount Gekko—grimiest mountain in the Canadian Rockies. It is only 10,694 feet high, but has defied every attempt to attain its peak. Now the feat is being tried by C. G. Wates of Edmonton, Alberta; H. D. Geddes of Toronto, and Val E. Flynn of St. Louis. They intend to make four different assaults on the mountain.

Bluefield, W. Va., a city of 25,000, and Graham, Va., a town of 8,000, just across the state line, have become one. An actual wedding, symbolical of the union of the two municipalities, was staged on the boundary. For the first time in history the governors of the two Virginias participated in a joint celebration. Governor E. F. Morgan of West Virginia is seen at the left of the bride couple, and Governor E. Lee Trinkle of Virginia, at the right. The combined towns now are known as Bluefield, W. Va.-Va.

FARMER BEGINNING TO FEEL EFFECT OF INCREASED PRICES

Potential Buying Power of Farm Increased by Nearly a Billion Dollars

Babson Park, Mass.—Recent rises in the prices of farm products have been discussed much as to their economic and political effect. Many have wondered just how much of this increase would actually get to the farmers who produce these crops. Roger W. Babson's first estimate of increase in the farmers' purchasing powers made public today is, therefore, of unusual interest.

"It is difficult to get exact figures on what the farmer receives for his crop," says the statistician, "because of differences in locality, freight rates, and time of actual marketing. A reliable estimate can, however, be made by applying the recent increase to the actual prices being paid to farmers this last spring. Corn for instance was netting the farmer around 74c a bushel in January of this year. Cotton brought the grower about 28c per pound in March. While wheat was selling from 95c to 96c in the middle of April. These data represent an approximate loss since the beginning of 1924.

FARMERS GETTING MORE

"Corn has since seen a rise of 45 per cent, cotton an increase of 27 per cent and wheat has advanced approximately 30 per cent. The latest crop estimates by the government forecast a corn crop of 2,315,000,000 bushels, a cotton crop of 11,334,000 bales and a wheat production of 74,000,000 bushels. Corn growers are now receiving over $1 instead of the 74c a bushel prevailing earlier in the year and on this expected production their purchasing power is thereby increased over $550,000,000. Much corn is of course fed to hogs and not marketed directly. Hog prices have also risen about 40 per cent so that the advantage is getting around 30c instead of 27.7c per pound and therefore profit to the extent of more than $135,000,000. The wheat farmer who has certainly had his troubles these last years is receiving $1.20 instead of 96c and on the basis of government estimate his potential purchasing power is increased by $175,000,000. On these three crops alone the recent strengthening in prices has added $660,000,000 to the purchasing powers of the farmers.

"If we compare these crop estimates with the actual crop harvested last year we find a decrease of 17 per cent in the probable production of corn despite larger acreage. The price rise offsets this shrinkage and leaves the corn farmer with an income at least equal to a year ago. Present forecasts on the cotton crop meantime indicate a yield of 18 per cent ahead of last year. The South will not only receive a high price per pound, if present prices continue, but will have almost one fifth again as much cotton to sell. Wheat estimates indicate a shrinkage of 5 per cent in production as compared with 1923 but the present rate of price increase should rapidly offset this discrepancy. The total income of the wheat farmer should be between 25 per cent and 50 per cent greater than last year. Continued drought and the possibilities of early frost may cut into these expected yields but such losses in volume should be compensated for by increased prices.

HARD ON THIRD PARTY

"The political significance of this increase in prosperity has already been commented upon. If the trend holds until election time the Third party should fare poorly. Unrest and radicalism have a way of evaporating in the sunshine of increased prosperity.

"The agricultural sections, themselves are already benefiting materially. Frozen credits carried by country banks are being liquidated and farm buying is increasing both with local merchants and with mail order houses. Great permanent benefit will result if the farmer continues to follow his present policy which serves to tend toward paying his debts, buying much needed farm equipment, and improving his working equipment in lieu of speculation that characterized his last season of prosperity.

"This welcome readjustment in farm prices has been long overdue," concluded Mr. Babson, "and it is hoped that the general level of agricultural prices and industrial commodity prices will come into even closer relationship. It is only on the basis of equitable purchasing power for all sections and classes that any real or lasting prosperity can be built.

"General business as reflected on the Babson chart has not yet felt the advantage of this more even adjustment. Activity is now 12 per cent below normal, the same as a week ago."

RINGLINGS ADD EUROPEAN ACTS

Big Circus Purchases Additional Horses and Imports Many Stars

Besides increasing the men and women performers to a total of almost 800 artists, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus is this season introducing five herds of trained elephants in place of the customary three groups, and presenting many new performing horse displays including a company of twenty-two Russian stallions.

These will supplement the remarkable acts of this kind first presented last season. Those of 1923 were shown that the Ringlings might judge the public's liking for a program of this character. The innovation met with such marked approval that the famous showmen have now tripled their acts of this kind and, likewise, added a hundred more trained horses to the arena program, making a total of 200.

The 1924 presentation includes a combination of the three largest animal shows that have until now traveled only on the continent. The outfit and the more than thirty men who have trained and cared for the dumb actors, are carried intact. Twenty-two of a total of more than 100 railroad cars are required to carry this particular aggregation. It is not shown as a separate attraction, but is made a part of the gigantic program in the circus main tent.

Five out of the sixteen main tent displays will be given over to these newly imported thespians when the big circus exhibits in Oshkosh on Tuesday, August 12.

These displays include two kinds of animals—those performed in steel arenas and those exhibited from the rings, stages and hippodrome track. Four arenas of steel are set up at every performance and at such vantage points as to insure a complete view of their contents from all parts of the tent. In these are shown the most marvelously trained wild animals ever subjugated. All are in charge of the European trainers who taught them the wonderful tricks which they do.

ON THE SCREEN

H. G. WELLS CAPITULATES

TO THE CALL OF THE SCREEN
H. G. Wells the man whose fearless writings have made him the most famous author in the world, has finally consented to having his fiction filmed, the first being "The Passionate Friends."

In this story H. G. Wells attempts to prove that a man can love two women, both worthily, and be honorable. He swings a giant axe at deep-rooted convention, tears to shreds accepted customs, throws a strong searchlight on human emotions. "The Passionate Friends" has been the cause for great discussion. Preachers have used this story as a text. Newspapers have thrown open their columns for public discussion. The question, "Can a man love two women, both worthily, and be honorable?" is holding the attention of the public.

A film story of "The Passionate Friends" follows the book in every detail. It is a really able cast of performers portrays the roles effectively, making "The Passionate Friends" a screen epic.

The management of New Bijou Theatre announces that "The Passionate Friends" will be the principal feature at its theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

INNOCENCE

Lovers of good literature who read with pleasure Lewis Allen Browne's gripping story, "Circumstances Alter Divorce Cases," will be glad to know that it has been adapted for the screen and will be seen at the Elite Theatre on Sunday one day only. "Innocence" is the title that has been given the film version of this swift-moving story of a woman convicted on circumstantial evidence. Mr. Browne has expressed himself delighted with the manner in which his story has been made into a motion picture, and especially so with Anna Q. Nilsson's portrayal of the leading role. Earl Foxe, Wilfred Lucas, Freeman Wood, Marion Harlan, Lillian Langdon, William Scott Jesse Arnold and Vera Lewis, are also worthy of notice.

SEMON HAS APPEARED

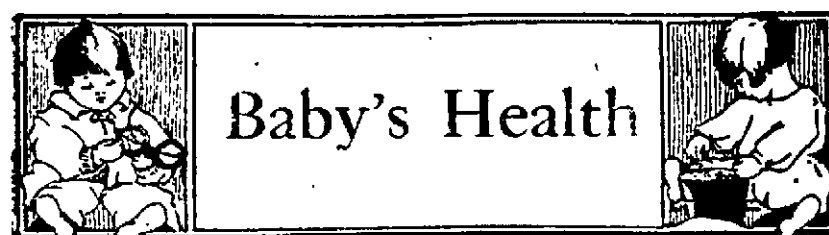

IN 300 PICTURES
Larry Semon, star and producer of "The Girl in the Limousine," the First National picture which will be seen on the screen of the Elite Theatre beginning Monday has appeared in the course of his long career before the camera in fully three hundred pictures. A great many of these are one and two reel pictures made in those early days of the motion picture when the Keystone cops were in their heyday.

Baby's Health

CHILDREN'S BUREAU, U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

DISTURBED SLEEP

If the baby sleeps lightly wakens often, and seems uncomfortable he may be nervous from having been tickled played with or tossed about in the latter part of the day. Overstimulation is to be avoided at all times, no matter what its source or what the age of the baby. It is possible that he is too warm, too cold, or wet; there may be something scratching him, or there may be wrinkles in the bed clothing; he may be lying in a cramped position, or the band or diaper may be too tight, or more likely, he has been overfed, or has had something unsuitable to eat, or is hungry or thirsty. It may be also, that the room is too hot, too cold, too light, too noisy, or not sufficiently aired. The conditions which make sleep a delight to older persons affect the baby in the same way, namely, plenty of fresh air passing in a constant current through the room, quiet, a clean body, clean, comfortable clothing, a good bed, and suitable coverings.

A cool bath or a warm one, according to the temperature will help to induce quiet sleep. In the summer, when the baby is fretful and sleep restlessly, a tub bath at bedtime will help to relieve him. A little baby should be turned over once or twice in the course of a long nap.

Many parents are in the habit of taking the children, even very young babies, out with them in the evening to shop, to the "movies," or to visit friends, thus making a regular early bedtime an impossibility. While in many families there is no one to leave the baby with if father and mother both go out, and it is a deprivation if one must stay at home, the baby's welfare should be the first consideration. If the baby is taken out in the evening his habit of going to bed at 6 o'clock is broken up; he usually goes some part of the broken sleep of 10 or 12 hours he needs, as he may not sleep on in the morning make up what he lost the right before; and his eyes and nerves are overstimulated by the lights and noise. Furthermore, he is likely to have been kept for an hour or more in a close, hot atmosphere and may have been exposed to some contagious disease.

PETTICOATS

Part-wool flannel should be used for the petticoats selecting the lightest weights for hot weather. Even for the newborn baby the petticoats should not extend more than 10 inches below the feet and if the weather is hot, it may be several inches shorter. In hot climates all the clothing may be short from the top. Skirts may be the Gertrude or princess pattern, closing on the shoulders. Muslin petticoats are unnecessary for the young baby.

CELEBRATED 107TH BIRTHDAY BUCKING AND SPLITTING WOOD

Tancredia, Calumet Island, Que.—Joseph Beland is 107 years old, and to celebrate his birthday he "bucked" a cord of wood—saved it into stove lengths and split it.

The job did not fatigue him. It only gave him a better appetite for the birthday dinner.

Beland wants to know if there is anyone his age on the North American continent who can equal his record.

Records in the parish church show that Beland was born in May, 1817—when Napoleon was in exile on St. Helena.

Beland, French Canadian, has been a lumberjack, river-diver and farmer. He has worked hard all his life, kept regular hours, eaten only plain substantial food and refrained from worry. He is an inveterate smoker and doesn't turn down an occasional "nip."

He has 137 living descendants.

Beauty And Ugliness In Same Block In Washington

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington—Washington is a city of contrasts. Beauty rubs elbows with ugliness, spic-and-span newness with dilapidated antiquity, palatial homes with squalid shacks.

When the king and queen of Belgium were guests of the capital only a few years back, their nearest neighbors, while they were housed in the magnificent home of Breckenridge Long at the top of Sixteenth-st. Hill, was a colored family which lived in a ramshackle old lean-to immediately across the street.

All the comings and goings of the royal pair and their glittering entourage were watched with keenest interest by a half-dozen ragged pick-annities perched on the rickety old steps of the shack.

And the interest of these dusky youngsters in the royal guests across the way undoubtedly was equalled by the interest of the royal pair in the "democracy" of the American capital and its indiscriminate mixing of colors and classes.

In the rear of many of Washington's most fashionable residence streets, facing on the alleys, are rows of brick tenements, crowded, unsanitary, unsightly housing chiefly the city's poorer colored population.

These alley dwellings developed from the practice of the old families in installing their colored coachman and cook usually they were man and wife, in buildings on the rear of the lot, facing the alley. Gradually these buildings were extended until they filled the whole alley frontage.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the first, when she first came to Washington, took an active part in trying to abolish alley dwellings, and they were officially scheduled for the discard, by order of Congress.

Then the war came along, the housing shortage developed, and a stay of execution was granted these tenements. So they still stand, a blot on the face of the "beautiful" capital.

No historic avenue in the world presents such a motley array of "structures" as flanks Pennsylvania avenue, that broad thoroughfare between the capital and the treasury.

At the up-town end, near the treasury, there are a number of creditable modern buildings. But below Sixth street, toward the capital, the only sizeable building not of pre-Civil War vintage, houses of Henry Ford's five and ten-cent exhibits.

Here may be found Washington's "Chinatown," rendezvous of silk-shirted and pig-tailed Celestials.

Here, also, are the quarters of fortune tellers, palm readers, mediums and psychics.

Swarthy gypsy women in brilliant colored and voluminous skirts and rainbow hued scarfs loiter in the doorways while their brown-skinned, scantily clad children revel in the grime of the gutters.

A few musty, dusty "antique" shops and an old second-hand book shop or two, alone add "class" to this section of the "Avenue."

One hundred years from now, perhaps in 50, this may be changed. At that time Pennsylvania avenue may be the "beautiful" thoroughfare it is so often pictured. For few of the buildings there can stand longer than that.

But in the meantime—well, it's close to the capital. There is no pressure for its present development. And land values will keep on rising.

The increment in these values make it more desirable to wait another generation before improving this section than to do it now.

And in the capital, money out-talks even Congress!

GEENEN COMPANY
GETS MORE ROOM

A rest room for employees and a reserve stock room will be located on the second floor of the J. Ornstein building at 774 College-ave., which the Geenen Dry Goods Co. has leased for this purpose. The rug and drapery and ready to wear departments will be enlarged by doing away with the stock room which now adjoins the rug department. Dr. D. S. Runnels will move to the Whedon building. The rooms will be redecorated immediately and will be ready for use Sept. 1.

WE WOULD BE GLAD TO SEND SOME OF
OUR RAIN TO WEST

While Wisconsin is being flooded with rains the Pacific coast is suffering from the severest drought it has experienced in more than 50 years. The fruit crop has been greatly in need of rain and all other crops are suffering. John Ryan, who attended the forestry school connected with the state university of Montana last year, received a letter from a classmate Thursday to the effect the drought in Montana is more severe than it was ten years ago when most of its livestock was shipped to pastures in northern Wisconsin.

TWO CARS DAMAGED IN HEADON COLLISION

Two automobiles were damaged in a collision on Lake-st between the Appleton Superior Knitting works and the Appleton Machine company at about 8 o'clock Thursday evening. The cars of William Jahnke, Route 4, Appleton, and Louis Mannebach, Little Chute, collided practically head-on. The front bumper of Mannebach's car was broken, and a wheel was broken off the Jahnke car.

CABBAGE AND POTATOES
DAMAGED BY HEAVY RAINS

The cabbage crop of Outagamie-co has been damaged from 25 to 50 per cent by the recent heavy rains, according to certain growers. William C. Wilhams, a prominent buyer, estimates the loss at nearly 30 per cent. Because of the soaked condition of the ground, the plans are turning yellow and wilting. Entire fields are affected in many instances where the land is low. Potato vines in many places also are beginning to show the effects of too much rain. They too are turning yellow. Unless the rain ceases within the next few days both crops will be ruined.

BoxingGreen Bay Signs New
Shortstop For Sunday
Bill With Appleton

George Metten Returns to State Loop After Season With Midwest League, to Replace Milwaukee.

Green Bay has changed its lineup for the invasion of Appleton Sunday afternoon. "Irish" Millaege, third baseman, has left the Brabys outfit to take a job nearer home, and Tony Schultz will move over to his place. The vacancy left in this way has been filled by George Metten, whom Green Bay considers the best fielding shortstop ever seen on a Bay diamond. Metten was with the Brabys men in former years, but had played with the Midwest league this season. He was with the Chicago Nixes until that club went on the rocks financially. His flashy fielding won favorable comment around the Midwest circuit, and he was hitting .285.

The addition of Metten will make matters still more difficult for the Papermakers. Green Bay has been pounding along without a defeat for seven games, while the Appleton club has met several setbacks. In their last contest the Smithmen were far from normal, but nevertheless they gave the Pals a hard run and slammed "Speed" Rush all over the lot. If they continue to hit as they did in Wolsynski, Green Bay pitching ace, will have his record of no defeats badly smeared Sunday. He has pitched four games this season with the Brabymen, and looks like a big leaguer, but Eddie Stack will give him a good battle if he's anywhere near his old form.

Eddie Weisgerber will play the center garden for Appleton Sunday, which is expected to result in a great improvement there. Eddie is a veteran who keeps his head under all circumstances, and can hit regularly when he's right. Stumpf has been batting in hard luck since he joined the Papermakers tribe. He has hit himself into three or four double plays, but his hard luck can't last forever. Meanwhile his "line" is pepping up the rest of the club, and he is a perfect mate for Stack.

WET GROUNDS PREVENT CITY LEAGUE CONTEST

Wet grounds forced the Post-Crescent and Knights of Pythias to call off their game scheduled for Friday afternoon in the City Twilight baseball league, which makes the second postponement of the week. The game postponed from Friday probably will be played at Jones park Monday afternoon after the Park league game, while a contest between the Barbers and Knights of Pythias is on the regular schedule for Tuesday.

QUESTIONS

1. There are runners on second and third base and one man out. The batsman hits a fly to left field that is caught. Then an on third starts for home and the man on second for third. The runner is caught between second and third and put out, retiring the side. Does the run count?—F. A. A.

2. Batter hits a line drive to right field, which the fielder traps. The batsman, thinking it is caught, starts for his bench and is almost there when his teammates inform him that the umpire has ruled that the ball was not caught. He races back to first, which he reaches in safety. Has the runner that right or is he out for running out of line?—A. M.

3. The batter hits a liner which strikes the pitcher's plate and bounds back over the foul line between first and home. Is it a fair or foul ball?—A. M.

ANSWERS

1. If the runner on third held his base until the ball was caught, and crossed the plate before the runner was retired between second and third, the run counted.

2. Major league umpires would not call the runner out. He simply made the distance to first all the greater by running via the bench.

3. It is a foul ball, since it settled on foul territory before passing first or third base.

GIBBONS-BLOOMFIELD GO
ATTRACTS EARLY CROWDS

London—Fight fans began arriving early at the great Wembley stadium Saturday for the 20-round bout between Tom Cusins, American lightweight, and Jack Bloomfield, who aspires to a chance at Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight honors.

The morning broke with indications of favorable weather, in accordance with the overnight predictions of experts. Scores of workmen spent a busy night under the lights putting the finishing touches on the ring and making other preparations about the Wembley bowl the seating capacity of which, 127,000, will be largely taken.

SCHOOL BOY STAR
'ANOTHER KIPKE.'
GOES TO MICHIGAN

Bennie Oosterbaan Is Greatest Athlete Developed in Wolverine Prep Schools

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Bennie Oosterbaan will enter Michigan this fall. To the casual reader that statement may not mean a great deal, but to followers of athletics at the Maize and Blue institution it carries quite a bit of weight.

For he is known that Oosterbaan ranks as one of the greatest all-around athletes ever developed in Michigan prep school circles. Oosterbaan is a star, and a handsome one. He hails from Muskegon, Mich., where, for the past three years, he has been making sport history.

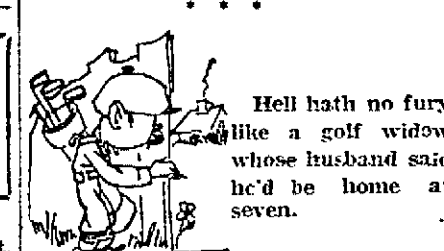

Oosterbaan the sports it that way himself is a four sport man. He performs in baseball, football, basketball and track. He's a pitcher, end, center and weight man.

In 1923, Muskegon reached the semi-final in the national tournament at Chicago. Oosterbaan carried it up that far. As a reward, he was named All-American prep school center.

Michigan looks hopefully to Oosterbaan to fill the shoes of Harry Kipke.

It isn't necessary to be wise always to make very long casts with a fly when fishing up stream if the anchor is wading. It's much easier to hook your trout or bass and not so hard on the rod when a reasonable amount of line is used.

A wise old trout or bass usually likes to look things over a bit if the current isn't very fast, so the angler should not be in a hurry to retrieve a fly. It usually is a false move the wise birds are waiting for, before hitting a fly.

The clover in under the overhanging bank one can drop a fly, the bigger the trout or bass one is likely to raise. It is in these hidden nooks that the monarchs of the pool lie, and thus concealed await the coming of friend or foe.

These big fellows do not strike freely by any means—one must offer them something that just suits their fancy—but remember they are well worth working for.

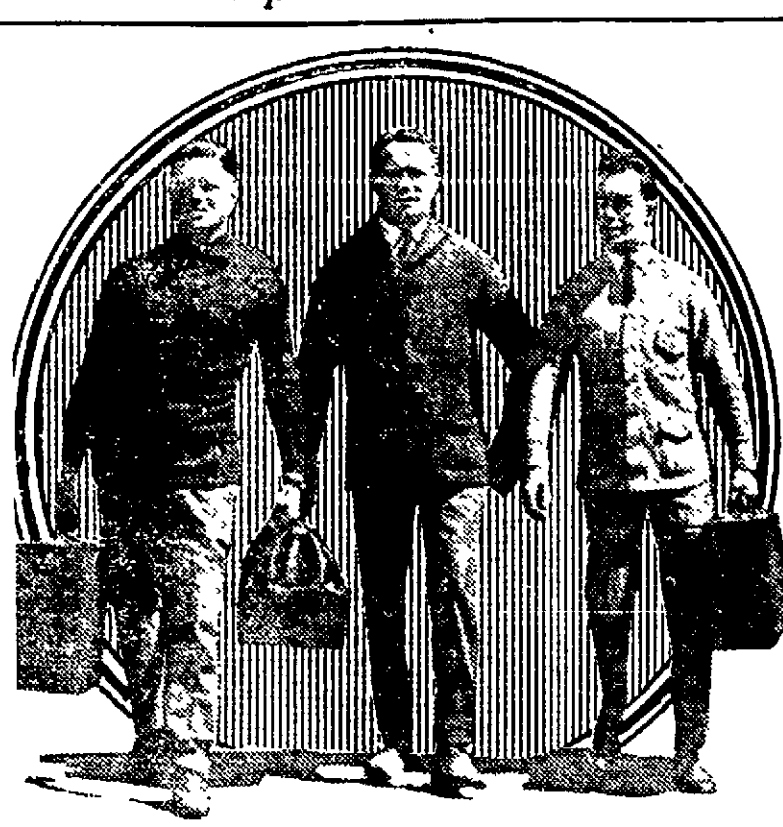

A dry leader will sink and curl if it is used before soaking and a dry leader is about half as strong as a wet one. It is well to remember to dampen leaders before starting on a trip, then they will be ready for use upon arrival.

The three were Bartley Madden, heavyweight; Mike McFigue, light heavy-weight, and Jack Britton, welterweight.

Grid Mentors Turn
Eyes To Prospects
For Coming Season

Mark Catlin, New Coach, Will Have Plenty of Veteran Material to Work With When Call Is Issued on Sept. 15.

With the summer vacation more than half over, Lawrence football mentors are beginning to turn their attention to grid prospects for the coming season. Mark Catlin is back in harness as chief grid coach, and will cooperate with Arthur C. Denney, athletic director, to pound the material at hand into shape for a strenuous season. Catlin developed several winning teams for Lawrence in former years when candidates were few and far between, and with the number almost doubled is expected to build a championship eleven.

Eight of last season's regulars will be back in uniform when the call is issued on Sept. 15, five days before the actual opening of Lawrence.

Leonard Stoll, star tackle who also makes a good end, was elected captain at the end of last season. Stoll is a veteran of many battles whose experience will be of great aid in making his leadership successful. Ed Gander and Ray Holdridge, tackles, James O'Connell, center and Ed Packard, guard complete the list of regular line-men, while Eddie Kotal at quarter with Ray Goettcher and Jake Zussman as halfbacks will be the nucleus of the backfield force. Boosted by the only regular backfielder among this group, Ends and center are weak spots in the lineup, but with Kotal back on the job as quarter prospects are not too blue.

SECOND YEAR MEN PLAY

The addition of nine of last year's freshman stars to the first string will give Catlin something to work on. Pete Briesse, Bert Nason and Phil Nobles were out as halves last year and showed great promise in that capacity. Tackles were Don Stark, Nick Emmonson and Boyd Schweiger, with Marvin Counsell as guard and Robert Hipke as end, Dunham, a 217-pound veteran of La Crosse high school also will be out this year and is expected to be a valuable addition to the squad.

These men all have indicated their intention of returning to their grid activities this fall, and all have maintained the required scholastic standing. It is expected that Coach Catlin will call them in on Sept. 15, the earliest date permitted by the conference rules, to get an early start.

The new athletic field recently purchased by Lawrence college will not be ready for use this fall, but the old field has been kept in good condition, and bleachers for 2,000 have been erected next to the grand stand, which has a capacity of 1,000. In addition to this seating capacity there will be seats on the south side of the field, such as were used last year.

WOOD PRODUCTS CO. FINDS
WAY TO CONSERVE LABOR

Appleton Wood Products company at Appleton Junction has installed a roller system of unloading lumber from freight cars which lessens the amount of labor by 50 per cent. The system consists of a series of iron rollers which run from the car into the yard at an incline. Boards placed on them are carried by gravity to the other end, where they are placed on trucks operated on iron rails that run to the dry kiln.

The company also has installed a new planer that planes both surfaces of a board at once. This does away with extra handling. The company is operating at full capacity.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE BALLOON TYPE TIRE

The balloon type tire of today is a magnified and perfected form of the Jumbo 30x3 1/2 Fabric Tire which was originated by General in 1916.

That tire, in which the fundamental principle of the balloon type was first used—namely, thinner, stronger carcass and greater air chamber—pointed the way and set the pace for future development.

General represents the most advanced and dependable stage of balloon type tire to date because General's product is based upon experience in low pressure tire construction and is the outgrowth of the ideas which have been constantly employed in the company's development and the improvement of all size General Cords.

American Walker Cup
Defense Looks Good

Dr. Willing Gets Chance to Show Easterners What He Can Do in Competition for Prized Trophy.

No one can find serious fault with the team which has been picked to defend the Walker cup against the British invasion next month at Garden City, L. I. Captain Bob Gardner's selection comes close to representing the 10 best amateur golfers in the country.

A mild exception may be noted here and there. Bill Fownes of Pittsburgh is hardly the golfer he used to be, but he is a wise head, a matchless general and, altogether, a mighty valuable citizen to have around.

Gardner himself has not been playing up to old-time form, but largely to a recent operation. It may come to pass that Gardner will not attempt to play a conspicuous role in the cup matches, but will assign the burden of the fight to another.

Golf fans of the country will rejoice in the selection of Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland. The good doctor performed heroically with the American team abroad two years ago. The east has never seen him in action in an important tournament. In 1921 he was unified in the national amateur at St. Paul but was demolished by Bobby Jones in the second round, 9 and 8.

Harrison Johnston owes his place on the team to the spectacular manner in which he won the recent western amateur, and is richly entitled to the honor.

Chick Evans is again on the team Jimmy Marston, who beat him by an overwhelming margin in the western final. This may strike some observers as unfair. It is a little tough on the St. Louis youngster, yet Evans unquestionably deserves the position. One defeat is hardly enough to dim a record as brilliant as Chick's.

Max Marston, American champion, is one team, naturally, and Max comes to think of it, has been beaten twice in tournaments this year. Bobby Jones, Francis Ouimet, Jesse Guifford and Jess Sweetser all move into their positions without protest or comment.

People who have used DANISH PRIDE MILK cling to it.

COMBINED LOCKS
MILLMEN SWAMP
MADISON. 10 TO 1

Marty Lamers Allows 3 Hits While Mates Pound Two Pitchers Off Mound

Marty Lamers Thursday afternoon pitched the Combined Locks Mill team to a 10 to 1 victory over the Madison Blues, when he allowed but 3 hits while his mates were garnering 15 off a pair of Madison twirlers. The Blues had been undefeated until they met the Neenah-Menasha Pals several weeks ago, but the Lock club easily took them to a drubbing.

The Millmen started out by collecting five hits in a row off Bowman in the first, and by the time the storm was over they had chased five runs across the home plate. The Blues then yanked Bowman and put Lenahan in his place, but he did not fare much better. Cavil and Lamers slammed a safety apiece, and Red Smith's sacrifice fly turned Cavil's hit into a run. Doubles by E. Smith and Them accounted for another run in the third, while four bunched hits in the eighth gave the Locksman another trio of tallies.

The Blues scored their only run in the ninth.

Babe Poles 2 Homers
But Late Finish Puts
Cleveland On Top, 10-8

Schang, Jamieson and Myatt Also Slam Out Circuit Drives in Contest Between Yanks and Indians.

So far as ground gaining ability goes, the entries in the American league derby are almost as helpless as merry-go-round horses. Although Detroit increased its chances of overtaking New York by winning while the Yankees were losing, the world champions Saturday still head the procession by one game. Washington marked time in third place during a rainstorm and St. Louis continued in the grip of its form reversal, dropping a third straight to the last-place Athletics. Five homers featured the game between New York and Cleveland, the latter emerging from the melee with a 10 to 8 victory by virtue of a ninth inning finish. Ruth, who banged out his thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth circuiters, was the headliner in the homerun sleshow. The other stars were Schang, Jamieson and Myatt.

Burying three Boston pitchers under an avalanche of hits, Detroit romped off with a 14 to 5 win. The Tigers clinched the game in the first two frames with clusters of five and four runs respectively. For the simple reason that Manager Sleser was unable to find one pitcher in five capable of putting the quietus on Philadelphia batters, the Athletics took the third game of the series by a score of 9 to 5.

The Giants not only lead their league by nine games and a half, but also are developing into champion winning-streak-breakers. Cincinnati after piling up six successive triumphs, met Pittsburgh's fate in stubbing its toe at the Polo Grounds. The Reds fall was measured by a score of 8 to 3.

One of the tightest pitching duels of the season was decided in favor of Pittsburgh by Traxner's homerun for a 1 to 0 victory over Philadelphia.

Ragged support counteracted fun twirling by Barnes and gave Chicago an easy 10 to 7 victory over Boston. The Brooklyn Robins were so prodigal of a nine-run lead that they were fortunate to defeat St. Louis by 11 to 9.

Eight remain in the title play as a result of the remaining matches, which ended thus:

H. W. Randolph, Oshkosh, 2 up on M. E. Carrol's Oshkosh; F. R. Wall, Menominee, 2 up on Dr. G. A. Stratton, Oshkosh; N. B. Aldridge, Wisconsin Rapids, 2 up on M. Turner, Manitowish; T. M. THE EVOLUTION OF THE BALLOON TYPE TIRE
The balloon type tire of today is a magnified and perfected form of the Jumbo 30x3 1/2 Fabric Tire which was originated by General in 1916.

That tire, in which the fundamental principle of the balloon type was first used—namely, thinner, stronger carcass and greater air chamber—pointed the way and set the pace for future development.

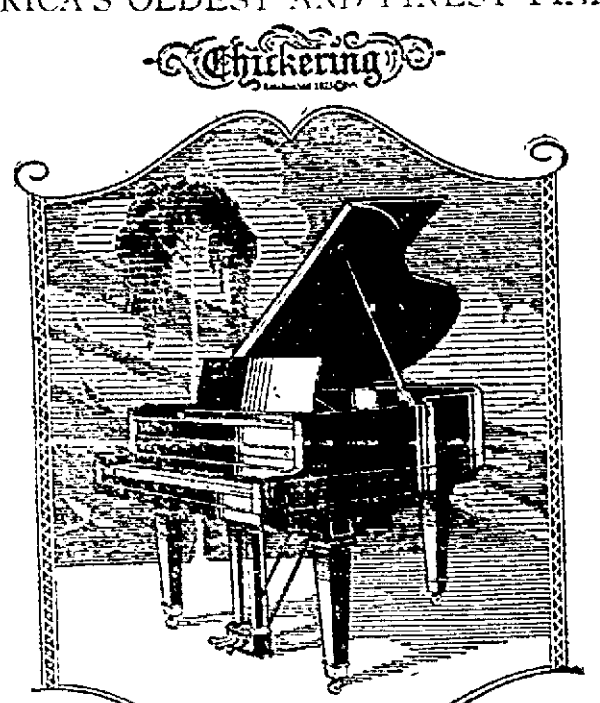

General represents the most advanced and dependable stage of balloon type tire to date because General's product is based upon experience in low pressure tire construction and is the outgrowth of the ideas which have been constantly employed in the company's development and the improvement of all size General Cords.

Had a long talk with Ruth—really the first one I have had since I came from your mother's dear. She is at last going to get a divorce, and I am glad of it. I think it is a terrible thing for a woman to be separated from her husband and not have her legal freedom.

She lets herself in for so much gossip—people always seem to think that she ought to act like a nun, and never lift her eyes to another man.

She has had a long letter from Walter Burke, and he is coming back to marry her. Of course Ruth knows Walter better than I, but I don't believe if I were she I would marry him. In fact, Jack, tonight I have been looking over my life, and I do not think I should marry any man if you should go out of it. Now that's not saying that I want you to, but it is saying that I would be afraid to trust my fate again.

In the case of Ruth, you know Walter has always had the reputation of being a great woman's man. In fact, you remember, when we were first married, you thoroughly objected to me being seen in any party where he was. I remember on of our first quarrels was because he happened to come and sit at the table where Ruth and I were having luncheon together, although you had nothing to say about her husband, Harry Ellington, who, through some joke of fate, came in with the woman he afterwards deserted Ruth for.

Ruth trusts Walter utterly. She seems to think that it was because she was married and he could not have her that made him so catholic in his attentions to other women. She said to me, when we were talking it over tonight:

"Every man is true to some woman after this fashion."

You know, Jack, that thought is quite comforting to me, for I take it to myself that I am the woman to whom you will always be true after your fashion.

"I haven't heard from your mother since you went away, but I know she is all right, for you know her last letter was a very cheery one. I think we ought to have your mother visit us, dear. You know she has never been here since our marriage, and that was a long time ago, Jack. Somehow, I feel as though I had always been married. I cannot imagine my life without you and little Jack."

Do you know, dear, I believe every woman should marry. I cannot speak for the men, because I feel that perhaps they are different; but no matter if a woman is unhappily married, she still has a feeling of security, as long as a man provides for her and pays the respect and honor due to her as his wife, that comes from nothing else in this world.

It's a different feeling than I ever thought I should have. I do not believe love is necessary to it. It's just—oh, I can't explain it, Jack—but it's just that you belong, some way, and you can't get away from it.

A husband may hurt you occasionally, almost more than you can bear. He can bore you often to extinction. He may neglect you at times. But he cannot take away from you in any way the feeling that you are his wife—you are the one woman in all the world that he is his name, and the only woman who is recognized as his helpmeet and the custodian of his honor.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE FUN HOUSE

One of the most interesting places in Happy Go Lucky Park where Nancy and Nick were helping Mister Zip, the fairyman, was the fun house.

You went in by crawling through a barrel and when you got in the middle of it, it began to spin around like a hoop, upsetting you and rolling you over and over like a dice in a dice box.

When finally you got inside there was a sign which said "The Puzzle Patch." It looked as easy as pie when you went in. But it wasn't so easy, as the fly found out when he got caught in the spider-web.

For the passerger twisted and turned this way and that and you always met yourself coming back. You were lucky if you got out in half an hour.

And then there were the funny mirrors that made you fat or made you lean or made you lumpy or bow-legged or even turned you upside down.

Now fat, dignified Mrs. Woodchuck said that never, never, never would she go to Happy Go Lucky Park again after Nick took her picture and got Mrs. Bunny's ears in it by mistake.

But one day Mister Woodchuck and the children coaxed and coaxed her until she said finally, "All right I'll go then. But remember—no nonsense."

Mister Woodchuck stopped in front of the fun house. "This looks pretty good. Let's go in," he said.

"Looks silly," said Mrs. Woodchuck in a resigned voice. "But I'm in for it now. Go on if you want to."

So with whoops of delight the little Woodchuck boys and fat Mr. Woodchuck went in and got rolled around in the barrel and thought it was fine fun.

"I'll do nothing of the sort," said Mrs. Woodchuck when they coaxed her to come along.

"There's another door," said Nancy. "Go in that way."

And the first thing you know wasn't Mrs. Woodchuck lost in "The Puzzle Patch."

And get out she couldn't. She wandered around and around and finally shouted, "Help!" And Nancy had to go in and rescue her.

Then came the mirrors. And the first one made her look like a wash tub. Mrs. Woodchuck was fat enough, dear knows, and she shrieked when she saw herself. "Lands alive! Take me away," she cried.

"Come on and try this one, Ma," shouted Wobby. "It will make you thin."

"I'll do nothing of the sort," snapped Mrs. Woodchuck, getting crosser and crosser. "I've no notion of being made a goose of any more."

"Then come on over here," called Mister Woodchuck, who was standing on a little bridge.

So panting indignantly Mrs. Woodchuck followed.

But no sooner had she reached the middle of the bridge than it folded up with her and then instantly set itself to rights again, for it was a trick bridge.

"Take me home! Take me home!" wailed poor Mrs. Woodchuck. "This is a terrible place."

"Why, you haven't seen half. Mom," said Wobby, who was having a gorgeous time.

"That's twice too much," snapped Mrs. Woodchuck, and home she marched. (To Be Continued)

Cosmetics No Recent Rage, Critics Say

New York—Now that we are greeted on every hand with advertisements of preparations for beautifying women—staggered by statistics showing enormous sums spent yearly for cosmetics, it is interesting to note how milady made herself more attractive in the last century.

Critics, if they may be called such, of the eighteen hundreds, deplored overuse of paint, powder and other preparations, which have today become so popular.

A pair of reddened lips or highly tinted cheeks were considered landmarks of the lower regions. No self-respecting man, it was said, could resist himself to the public company of the painted woman.

Today, and it is not thought a fad, a woman's toilet is not considered complete without a supply of lip sticks, rouge and other necessities to the make-up.

In the "good old days," manufacturers report, there was sale for Lilly White, Bloom of Youth, Magnolia Balm, Oriental Cream, Prepared Chalk, Tear Drops, Sun Pearl, Blanc de Pearl, Creme-de-Lis, Dark Pomatum, Flower of Beauty and Victoria Bloom. How many of these has the modern woman in her boudoir?

In carmines and lip paint every variety of dye was used. India ink was used for penciling the eyebrows and No. 1 lead pencils were used for the same purpose. It was thought, however, that the constant use of any preparation for the skin or hair was injurious.

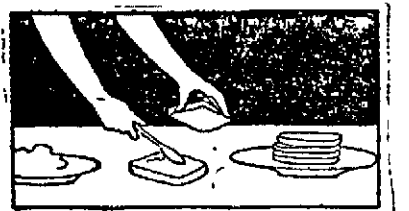

To quote from a newspaper of that period: "To enumerate what is used in a lady's toilet gives one a good idea to what length fashionable folly will lead even those who are supposed to have good sense."

"A regularly fashionable toilet will employ the following list of materials: Powder, carmine, glycerine, india ink, pencils, sponge powder puff, chamomile skin, crimpers, frizzes, puffs, braids, hairpins by the peck, bay rum, Florida water, extracts, arsenic, dyes, tweezers, cardamom, aromatic pills, sheets of zinc for curling the hair, two-handed glasses, besides the customary furniture of a dresser."

We could at least leave out the hair pins today and the sheets of zinc and, unfortunately though it may be, the correspondent failed to mention what the arsenic was for.

Household Suggestions

MAKING SANDWICHES
When you make sandwiches you can save time by blending the butter and the filling and spreading on both at once.

WEIGHT AND QUALITY
Do not demand fancy quality in groceries or fruit unless you are willing to pay for it, but insist upon getting from the clerk the weight and quantity for which you are paying.

USE STEEL WOOL
A felt hat that has been spotted by rain may be remedied by rubbing the nap the wrong way with steel wool until the spots disappear.

LASTS LONGER
Lettuce wrapped in wax paper and then in a damp cloth will last for a long time and will be fresh when you take it out at picnics.

Foot Gear Tells Tales Of Temper And Health More Truly Than Dress

Faulty Posture Is Cause of Poor Circulation and Thereby Contributes Not Only to Physical Strain But Also to Mental.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—The recent suggestion of a New York chiropodist that people choose their spouses by their feet may seem a trifle impractical, but it has received the endorsement of doctors and shoe salesmen. These two classes are fully aware of the importance of sound, well constructed feet, if other people are not. Doctors know that a large part of their practice comes from patients with faulty feet, while shoe salesmen will tell you to beware of the temper of the man or woman who crowds a large foot into a small-sized shoe.

Lately the public health authorities in various cities have been trying to educate the public concerning the dangers of feet imperfections. They would have us bear in mind that the feet support the body, and if their framework collapses in any one place the entire body is thrown out of position. The spine is apt to sag, the shoulders to droop, and permanent faulty posture likely to result. And faulty posture is now recognized by the medical profession to be responsible for a large number of human ills. It is the chief cause of poor circulation and thereby contributes not only to physical strain but to mental strain as well.

"It is difficult to speak with restraint of the deplorable foot conditions of civilized man," declares Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, Medical Director of the Life Extension Institute of New York, an institution which examines thousands of persons every year. "In addition to flat foot, bunions and other painful conditions due to the wearing of improper footwear are so common as to constitute a severe indictment of the intelligence of the individuals who submit to such foot distortion. The lessons of the army should be carried broadcast by the men in the service who learned the hardship of foot disabilities when any really adequate and sturdy use of the lower extremities was called for. There is little doubt that a considerable amount of physical and mental strain may be charged to foot disabilities. The correction of these is often very simple, but the problem is to gain the cooperation of the people in wearing proper shoes with a straight inner edge and ade-

Currant Jelly Men's Favorite, Cherry Second

Currant jelly will always be the best jelly made, though it must be admitted that the wild grape jelly is a close second to it, but that arrives at the very close of the canning season. Every housewife has her own rule for currant jelly but one word may be said here.

HOW TO MAKE CLEAR JELLY
The clearness of the jelly depends greatly upon how carefully it is skimmed while cooking. For people who do not object to the many seeds of currants the suggestion is made that spiced currants are very good with cold meat. Strip the currants of the stems, but do not wash, put in a preserving kettle and cook gently until soft. Add sugar in the proportion of one cup of sugar to two cups of the cooked fruit. Put back on the stove and bring to a boil. Then add one tablespoon of whole cloves, the same of stick cinnamon broken up small and a pinch of red pepper. Let all boil up once again and put in jars when very hot.

RIGHT WAY TO CAN CHERRIES
Cherries are one of the nicest and prettiest of the preserves. For canning, cherries should be ripe but not soft, and the stones are not removed. Cherry jam may be made of the less perfect fruit and the stones are always taken out. The sour cherry which is too acid for eating makes a beautiful and excellent jam. Pit the cherries and place in a kettle, add sugar in proportion of cup for cup. Cook rapidly, stirring often until the jam is well cooked down. If there is a great deal of juice take some of it out and put in a saucepan. Let it boil up quickly, skim carefully and allow to cool.

Popularity Of Rose Begins In Ancient Athens

The rose is said to have been called "the queen of flowers" by the Athenians at as early a period as 2600 B. C. and there are not many flower lovers who will deny that it is still entitled to the honor.

Roses grow well in nearly every part of the United States, but our florists have not given as much attention to their cultivation as has been given in England. It was stated in an address by an officer of the American Rose society that of 588 varieties of roses mentioned in the catalogue of the National Rose society of England only 28 were of American origin.

The first strictly American rose is said to have been grown at Mount Vernon by George Washington and to have been named by him the Mary Washington, in honor of his mother. Since then about 500 varieties of roses have been originated in the United States, but hardly more than 100 of them are still in commerce.

There has been an interest in roses in this country of late, however, and there is hope that in a few years we will play a more important part in floriculture so far as this flower is concerned.

A stir was created at a rose show held in Philadelphia by a new variety called Silver Columbia, developed by a florist of Lansdowne, Pa. In full bloom, it is stated, it looks almost like a peony. It is exceptionally fragrant and in color "a sort of La France pink, covered with a silver sheen." The Silver Columbia was hailed by experts as "the best rose since the Klartney."

Portland, Ore., calls itself "the rose city." A rose festival is held there annually, with civic and fraternal societies, the schools and the public generally participating. For three days all other business is subordinated to the rendering of due honors to the queen of flowers.

Parades are held in which literally tons of roses are used. One piece of fire apparatus last year was decorated with 50,000 of the flowers. Citizens of high and low degree compete for the prizes offered for the best roses; a shoemaker's son and the wife of a retired capitalist were among the winners of the high awards.

Boston lays claim to consideration as "the rose city of the east." It has a municipal rose garden of great beauty as well as many private gardens. The American Rose Society, which makes a pilgrimage every year to the place where it is thought roses can be studied to greatest advantage chose Boston last year.

FASHION HINTS

NEW COLORS
Three new colors for fall are Venetian fuchsia, shutter green and russet brown. The first is particularly liked in velvet for evening gowns.

HAT TRIMMING
Buckles in all sizes are very much in demand for hat trimming. Many are of metal or a colored composition that is decorated with conventional designs.

UNUSUAL HATS
In unusual hats there is the tiny poke bonnet shape with a wide brim in front and none in the back. Usually it is faced with a delicate color.

HUDSON SEAL
Hudson seal will be very popular this winter not only for coats of all lengths but for trimming on cloth models.

KNITTED COATS
Knitted coats will be popular for fall wear and are made to follow closely the straight close lines of the cloth models.

LACE CLOCKS
Extremely delicate lace clocks are seen on the new light hosiery that is being imported from Paris.

that most of the feminine shoes bought in New Orleans are fitted short and are not bought to walk in. To the person who does not walk or stand up a great deal, foot comfort is countless not essential, but the importance of comfortable shoes for people in business industry or sports cannot be overestimated. Nothing interferes with a person's efficiency so much as the painful sensations caused by the wearing of tight uncomfortable shoes. Not only is concentration rendered difficult by this handicap, but it produces a definite physical disturbance of normal activities and so affects the general health.

Countess Learns Much Royalty Doesn't Know From Leather Factory

Chicago.—The royal road to learning, Countess Elsa Bernadotte discovers, is the same road of sweat and struggle which the lowliest plebeian must tread.

The road for the countess has led through a leather shop—a grimy loft of heat, dust, noise and toil. To the hard eyes of a shop foreman, the king's granddaughter and Judy O'Grady are sisters, not only under their skins but on the outside.

But the Countess Elsa's road to learning is a self-chosen path, not an enforced exile. And she has thriven on the journey.

The countess is a daughter of Prince Oscar Bernadotte, a granddaughter of the reigning King Gustav V of Sweden and a direct descendant of Napoleon's soldier, Bernadotte, who found a marshal's baton and a crown in his knapsack. Her father is president of the Swedish Y. M. C. A., and an active philanthropic worker. The urge to social service was in her blood.

When she came to America in June to attend a Y. W. C. A. convention she was received by the leaders of society as befitting royalty. She was the guest of John D. Rockefeller Jr. and wife in New York and of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick in her Lake Shore Drive residence in Chicago.

Then Countess Elsa took a room at a quiet hotel here, left her baggage and checked out. She wanted human touch.

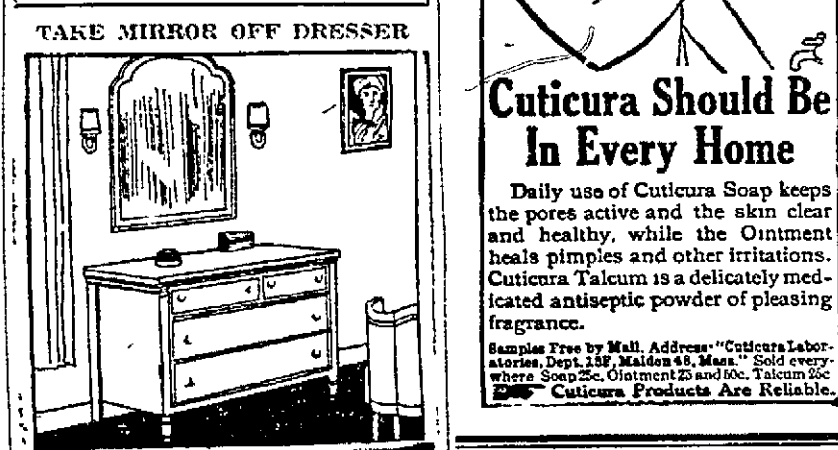

The old Caliph Haroun Al Raschid encountered no more unusual experiences in Baghdad than came to this countess.

The closed door, rampant on a blue apron for a time seemed the most fitting design for her crowned coat of arms.

"No, we don't need a maid," she was told. "No, we don't want any machine operators." "No, we can't take you if you haven't had experience." "No, the union won't let us hire you."

Then when she found her leather factory after her continuous rebuffs it looked better to her than the gilded domes of a palace. Yes, they would pay her $18 a week and let her sit across a machine from a skilled workman, helping him guide tanned hides past a whirling knife, cutting them into proper shapes for shoe tops. And if her fingers slip and she spoils a piece, the princess feels the caustic wrath of the boss' tongue.

At the end of the day the princess goes to a small, cheap, rented bedroom on the West Side to a bowl and pitcher washing outfit and a straw mattress.

Soon her royal highness, the Countess Elsa Bernadotte, will return to the Swedish court. There will be the old life of a European monarchial capital. But the countess will have within her, perhaps, a bit of understanding, not familiar to most of our royalty.

ONE BIG DOLLAR

It takes about $70 a year to give a child an elementary-grade schooling. Many cities spend more; few spend much less. A single dollar added to that amount will provide inspection and instruction in proper care of the teeth and mouth. Proper care means less decay. Less decay means a better chewing apparatus, better digestion, fewer injuries, less discomfort, greater immunity from disease and pain. In a word, better health. A longer life. A more useful life, and a happier one. Can any other dollar of the seventy show as good value?
